Youth Archaeology Week Public Program at Codorus State Park

For those wanting to learn more about the 18th century Mary Ann Furnace and the findings from Youth Archaeology Week will have a chance on Thursday, June 22nd at 6:30 p.m. The program will be held at Codorus State Park's Rummel Farm Parking Area, 1388 Black Rock Road, Hanover, PA. During the 1-hour program, program attendees will rotate between the excavations to learn what the youth unearthed and how archaeology is done. Also, learn how the excavation sites were determined for 2023. The program is free to attend with no registration required.

The Youth Archaeology Week is presented by the Friends of Codorus State Park and Jones Geological Services. Sponsors for the program are Schmuck's Lumber and IWM International LLC of Hanover.
